Gallaudet College

Sunday evening, November 7th, the Y. W. C. A. gave short program in Chapel Hall. Miss Ida Hanson, '29, opened the service with a prayer, after which Miss Lucile DuBose, '28, recited the hymn "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me." The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Edington, who made an appeal for internationalism. Miss Peet interpreted.

November 12th the Literary Society held a regular meeting in Chapel Hall. Professor V. O. Skyrberg was the drawing card, so as to speak, with "Fra Nord" as his subject. He gave a vivid picture of Norway and Norse life and, having been raised by parents fresh from Norway, injected such local color that we could almost feel as if we were from Norway ourselves. The resolution of the debate was "Resolved, That a union of Canada and the United States would be beneficial to both." The affirmative side, Messrs Landry, '28, and Brickley, '39, won the decision over Messrs. Stewart, '28, and Rosenfeld, '30. Messrs. Grow, '27, and Dondeigo, P. C., gave a dialogue entitled "Rattled", after which Mr. Max Thompson recited "The Pilgrim Fathers." Mr. Scarvie, '27, the critic, had the audience rocking with laughter with his apt comments on the program.

DELAWARE COMES OUT ON TOP, 10-7

After a hard-fought game, both against the University of Delaware eleven and a referee, whose decisions were rather shady, Gallaudet took the smaller end of a 10 to 7 score.

The Kendall Greeners held the locals to a scoreless first period, but a field goal piloted by Creamer's toe from the 25-yard line in the second period gave Delaware a three-point lead for the first half.

Leland corralled a forward pass heaved by Creamer and twisted his way through the Gallaudet defense for a 65-yard dash across Gallaudet's goal line for Delaware's only touchdown. Creamer kicked for the extra point.

In the fourth quarter the ire of the Kendall Greeners was aroused and they launched a fierce offensive drive. Immediately after the kick-off, Gallaudet tore through Delaware's powerless line for swift and decisive gains. After the Buff and Blue men smashed their way well into the locals' territory, Creamer intercepted an aerial heave, but Delaware soon lost the ball on downs. On the next play Byouk plunged through for a touchdown. Killian's educated toe garnered the extra point.

On several occasions, the Kendall Greeners grabbed fumbles made by the home team, but the referee refused to let them profit thereby, but whenever the Newark team fell on Gallaudet's ball, it was given to them. This was a typical phase of the game with Delaware. We have, however, the consolation of knowing that the Washington dailies spoke very highly of the Buff and Blue team.

GRIFFITH STADIUM RENTED
Gallaudet College was stunned but delighted when Football Manager Casper B. Jacobson announced that the Blue Ridge game, the only football clash scheduled for Washington, D. C. on November 20th, would be played in the American League Park. We will not be permitted, however, to use the Griffith stadium if it rains, so we are earnestly hoping for favorable weather. As a likely result of an intensive advertising campaign launched by the football management, from two to four thousand spectators will throng the stadium.

Mr. Haas, Gallaudet basketball coach during the year 1925-26, has been engaged to act as our Publicity Agent for this occasion. As he wields considerable influence in newspaper circles, the newspapers will be flooded with Gallaudet-Blue Ridge news.

We will face the Blue Ridge coterie with a somewhat crippled backfield. Byouk sustained a serious sprain in the third finger of his left hand. The doctor has ordered him not to play Saturday, but he is thinking of disregarding this piece of advice. Rose, the line-smashing fullback, received a double injury in his left leg in the first quarter of the Delaware game but possessing grit in abundance kept on playing throughout the remaining three periods. As this goes to press, he is laid up with a badly strained ankle and knee. There are doubts expressed as to his ability to play Saturday. Otherwise, the team is in good condition.

IN DIXIELAND.

The better element of Atlanta's deaf colony are up in arms over the large number of deaf—male and female—soap peddlers now infesting this city. Most of them are able bodied young men and boys, several recently out of school, leaving before they had finished their schooling.

Coming to Atlanta and not immediately finding work at wages which they thought they ought to get, turned to peddling. These peddlers have warned to desist and go to work or take the consequence. A certain one of these big overgrown boys who happened to call at our door recently selling his wares, had the brazen effrontery to boast to this writer that he was making from $9.00 to $15.00 per day selling cheap soap, and wanted to know why he should quit and go to work for an average of $15.00 per week, when he could make that much in a day? We have warned them one and all, regardless of who they are, that the very next deaf peddler, man, boy, or woman, that we see or hear of selling soap in our neighborhood, that we would summon the police and have them arrested and hauled into court, and made to "tell it to the judge." Georgia has a compulsory school attendance law and some reputable deaf citizens ought to interest themselves sufficiently to invoke this law and have these boys sent back to school where they should be, else turn them over to their parents with the request that they be kept off the streets. One of these young bloods aforesaid, coming here recently from another state, has been peddling during the week and using the money thus obtained to "sport" around in a high powered car every night and on Sundays.

Mr. Joe Davenport, formerly of Atlanta, but more recently of Nashville, Tennessee, was in Atlanta recently greeting his many old friends. Joe is looking the picture of health, but, sad to say, he is still single and care free, although "getting on" in years. We wonder!

The Rev. J. W. Michaels of Fort Worth, Texas, who is in Atlanta on a short stay as missionary to the deaf from the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention, in which capacity he has acted for many years, held a general meeting at the Second Baptist church, corner of Washington and Mitchell streets.

Mrs. Michaels is accompanying her husband on this trip and while in Atlanta they are the guests of the L. B. Dickersons.

Rev. S. M. Freeman has recently been under the weather, suffering with a very severe cold. He was unable to conduct his regular Sunday service last Sabbath and his pulpit was filled by the Rev. Billy Sunday (Dickerson) assisted by deacon Willingham. Rev. Freeman is reported improving at this writing and hopes to be able preach his regular sermon next Sunday.

Mrs. L. B. Dickerson was carried to the Wesley Memorial hospital on the 9th, suffering with a slight complication. We are informed that it is not serious and that she hopes to return home again a few days.

The Mississippi School for the Deaf has at last lured our old friend, Miss Lillian Glover, away from the Louisiana School and she is now located there. We had a hint of what was going to happen quite a while back and are glad that Miss Glover is now a "little nearer home." South Carolina is her native State.

Elaborate arrangements are being made for Atlanta's first deaf public "Bunco," and "500" party on November 25th. This party is under the auspices of the Nadfrat Woman's Club and proceeds are to go into the benefit fund. Mrs. Gholdston, the Chairman, who has charge of the affair reports that half the tables have already been sold. Tickets are 50 cents each, or $2.00 per table.

Work is quite dull in Atlanta at this time, and we would advise all deaf job seekers not to come here for the present. Several of our "old timers" are only holding on to their jobs by the skin of their teeth, so to speak. Outsiders could hardly find work of any sort here just now.

With Christmas only six weeks off, this writer is engaged in studying the serious problem of "ways and means" to induce Santa Claus to satisfy the wants of three little boys, grandsons, whose numerous wants would take a Rockefeller, or a Henry Ford to supply.

"Drop Outs"

No difference how deeply interested a person may become in any line of work when necessity calls for a change there appears to be but little or no inconvenience in passing from that particular line of work to some other. And when one has dropped out how quickly the gap is closed and how little thought the drop out claims on those who are left in. This appears to be particularly true as to the Superintendent of school.

Thirty years ago men who stood at the top of the profession and were honored and respected either died or resigned. Their places were filled and the people left, together with the new people, are continually looking forward and not backward.

What does the profession know today of Superintendent Mathison of Canada, Clark of Michigan, Currier of New York, Burt of Pennsylvania, Tate of Minnesota, Moses of Tennessee, Rothert of Iowa, Wilkinson of California, Argo of Colorado, Conner of Georgia or even Gallaudet of Washington.

This does not mean that the memory of these men is not respected and honored by old friends. It means only that the procession has marched on leaving the care of their graves to their immediate family. In view of this thought, what do all the striving and contests among men over details and policies amount to?

Each one should serve to the best of his ability under the conditions he finds himself and with the tools and implements he has at hand or can secure.

It is sad to contemplate that to drop out means to be left behind and ultimately forgotten, but that is decreed of fate.

This is no reflection on the able men spoken of above, for they succeeded great men and looked forward after doing so, and so will each generation be occupied in solving its own problems, doing its own work and anticipating its own future successes.—Ohio Chronicle.

Little Philip Jones Huckaby, only child of Supt. Huckaby and his wife, died at the Lady of the Lake sanitarium, Tuesday evening, October 19th. He was ill a very short time and his death was indeed a shock to all. Our hearts are filled with sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Huckaby. And many are the sweet expressions that come from pupils and teachers as they speak of the little lad who will be with us no more.—Louisiana Pelican, Oct. 28.

A very fine issue of the Rochester Advocate is the Fiftieth Anniversary number, that appeared last month.

The anniversary exercises were very impressive. Besides the opening remarks by Clayton L. McLaughlin, a highly educated deaf gentleman, an alumnus, and a teacher at the Rochester School, there was a splendid address by Dr. Charles R. Ely, Vice-President of Gallaudet College; a message of greeting from Mrs. Edmund Lyon; the presentation of $1,000 by the Alumni, to which a very fitting response was made by Principal Forrester; messages of greeting from the Board of Directors and from the Chamber of Commerce; and other addresses of much interest and significance.

A pleasing feature of the anniversary number are the full-page portraits with which it is embellished. There are half-tones of Dr. Zenas F. Westervelt, Principal and Superintendent of the school from its opening in 1876 till his death in 1918; Edmund Lyon, late President of the Board of Directors; Mrs. Edmund Lyon; Edward Mausch, Mrs. Charles H. Babcock, Charles F. Pond, Mon. Arthur E. Sutherland, Frank M. Ellery, Directors; Thomas C. Forrester, the present Principal of the school; and two of its most distinguished graduates, Clayton L. McLaughlin and Miss Rose Malpas.

A DEAF-MUTE, named Gustinus Ambrosi has made a bust of Premier Mussolini of Italy. He was permitted to be present at the secret executive sessions in the Chigi Palace at Rome, and modeled the Duce while he was at work. An illustration of the head of the great premier was printed in the photogravure section of the New York Sunday Times.

A registration of 1,013,468 in the public day schools of New York City is reported by Superintendent of Schools, William J. O'Shea. This is an increase of 10,039 over the enrollment of September 18, 1925.

SEATTLE.

Our letter to the JOURNAL this week is beginning with a record of several accidents. The first one, we are sorry to say, happened to our good friend Lewis O. Christenson, and his many friends along the Pacific Coast will be sorry to learn of it. About three weeks ago, he had left his office quite late in the evening and was about to cross the street at Fifth Avenue and Thomas Street, where Board Street meets these two diagonally. He waited a long while for a long string of autos to pass, and then thinking it safe, started to cross. Another car, however, was approaching from his rear. He saw it and jumped back but too late to get clear, and was struck by the bumper on the left leg below the knee. The car that struck him stopped, and the driver offered to take him to a hospital. Mr. Christenson preferred to be taken to his room at the McConnell home on Nob Hill Avenue. A first X-ray picture seemed to show no broken bones, though he tendon was injured, and Mr. Christenson attempted to get about on crutches at the end of two weeks, when the swelling in the leg had subsided. He suffered so much, however, that a second X-ray was taken and showed that the bone was cracked. So our friend was ordered to stay in bed three weeks longer by Dr. Shrenler. He is enduring the mishap with his usual cheerfulness, and receiving many callers. His sister, Mrs. Della DeGork, and a boy are attending his shop, though we hear that Mr. Christenson is attempting to do some work in bed. It is hoped the man, who struck him will foot the doctor bills.

The next victim of accident was Joe Kirschbaum. He was visiting with his brother the tract of land he has bought north of the city limits. While putting some firewood his knife slipped and a long gash in his left hand, severing a vein at the wrist. Joe's brother bound up the wrist as tightly as possible and drove four miles to the nearest doctor, who proved to be Dr. Parfitt in the University district. On the way to the doctor, they suffered a light collision with another car, and the wheel of Joe's Ford was somewhat bent. Dr. Parfitt put eight stitches in the wounded hand, and did not use any anesthetic. Joe has been home from work the past week waiting for his hand to heal.

Bryan Wilson's car skidded and turned over in a wet road, and he suffered a cut over one eye-brow, but the injury is not serious, and Bryan came out the easiest of the three who suffered accidents.

R. C. Miller's party on November 18th, at the home of the Partridges, was a very pleasant affair attended by about thirty. Cards were the order of the evening, and every one had a place at a table. Ice-cream, cake and coffee were served in generous proportions, and all voted Mr. Miller a good fellow and a fine entertainer.

When Queen Marie of Rumania was in Seattle, she was driven to visit Roosevelt High School. While there she was greeted, among others, by Miss June Voss, president of the girls club at Roosevelt and a niece of Mrs. C. K. McConnell. Miss Voss expects to attend the University of Washington next fall.

The Frats have engaged the headquarters of the American Legion at 10th Avenue and E. 50th Street for their big annual party on December 31st. Admission is $1.00, and the committee headed by Jack Bertram will try and make a program well worth the price. The American Legion building is a new one, and has every convenience for evening gatherings. These annual Frat parties have always drawn large crowds, and this year will probably be no exception.

John Brinkman is now back from Wenatchee, the apple crop being gathered, and will put in his time at his Bethell place, clearing and planting.

Mr. Christopher Smith, of Leavenworth has been appointed deputy game warden, and will be on the lookout for those hunting out of season or violating game laws. He is a notable hunter himself.

J. B. Bixter has been in Wenatchee, packing up his belongings preliminary to moving permanently to California. A reckless driver ran into and demolished his car a short time ago, and had to pay for the damage, as Bixter was not at fault.

While at Wenatchee, Mr. Brinkman met Mr. and Mrs. George Reimer from Iowa, Charles Walker, John Trimmer, and Harrison Gormley.

Mr. Otto Johue is back at Snoqualmie Falls, working in the mill. He is greatly interested in football, and expects to come to Seattle and take in the Thanksgiving game.

THE HANSON'S.

Clark Club Banquet

While the Clark Deaf-Mutes' Athletic Association does not indulge in athletic events at present, instead, the members keep their organization alive by the maintenance of Camp Clark for the recreation, pleasure, and edification of its members, and their families at Arverne-by-the-Sea. Surely they cannot afford to see a worthy organization, as this die or go to pieces for the simple reason that it had won for itself a reputation and commanded the respect of the deaf, as well as the hearing brethren for the many athletic and track events, which it has won through its members.

Everybody who witnessed the tournaments in athletic fields in the past years, will remember how its members, struggled with might and main to win its many trophies, plaques, silver cups and medals and add lustre to the good name of their organization. Thus the members strive to keep the spirit alive and it behooves them to celebrate every five years of its existence in the form of banquets.

The eventful night fell on November 13th, and the members celebrated the twentieth anniversary of its existence in terms somewhat different from the past, which were engineered by capable men, such as Messrs. Benjamin Friedwald, Harry A. Gillen and Fred J. Haberstroh who formed the Committee on Arrangements.

The committee hit upon the idea of having something in the form of a novelty. Instead of going into the botheration of donning full-dress or tuxedo suits and fine dresses for the gentler sex, and sit at banquets and listening to long speeches which often become a bore. Their experience in the past led them to make new arrangements, so the committee bought tickets and had all who participated in the celebration to attend moving picture shows. Afterwards there was an informal banquet as the means of entertainment and enjoyment.

There were two film attractions for the auspicious occasion arranged by the committee. One was the great film production of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter," at the Central Theatre, where most of them attended, and as for those who have seen the above picture, the committee secured tickets for them to see Herbert Brenons production of "Beau Geste" at the Criterion Theatre, so that all might enjoy themselves. This arrangement proved a success.

These film productions incidentally are enjoying a period of success down Broadway and they proved to be educational, since these subjects are of historical aspect and were intensely interesting and understandable. No doubt, the phase of visual education brought forth much enjoyment for those who attended.

After the moving-picture, entertainment mentioned above, the needs of the human body have not been forgotten so every one assembled at Romeo's, Broadway at Fifty-second Street, where an informal banquet was served, which was an added feature for the occasion, which began well around midnight.

Like the good uncle in the play, Mr. Benjamin Friedwald passed the Havanas and with his confreres did all they could to contribute to the comfort, pleasure and happiness of every one present.

Then up rose Mr. Haberstroh, as toastmaster, who paused and said in clear signs and in well-chosen words spoke concerning the purpose of the occasion and introduced Mr. Ludwig Fischer, President of the C. D. M. A. A., and a tireless worker, to speak. In appropriate words he dwelt upon the excellent progress made by the association stating in brief terms the work done in the past present and hope for the future, especially the halting forth of the Silver Jubilee, five years hence, and was loudly applauded. Other speakers were Louis A. Cohen, Louis Baker, Peter Kempf, Harry A. Gillen, Benjamin Friedwald and Isidore Blumenthal. There were several other to speak but they modestly declined and joined with the above felicitating the association.

Equally fitting was the view, the toastmaster had in mind, to pay respects to the departed members who have gone from our midst. He spoke how he wished they could be with us and since they could not, every one rose and stood in silent tribute to their memory—a sense of satisfaction that none of them have been forgotten.

To the committee belongs the credit for the excellent management which it had prepared weeks in advance and lost no opportunity to see to it that every detail is carried out perfectly and made the affair a huge success.

The officers are Ludwig Fischer, President; Peter Kempf, Secretary-Treasurer; Benjamin Friedwald, Harry A. Gillen and Fred J. Haberstroh comprise the Board of Governors. It was hinted that plans will be inaugurated shortly, with better features and surprises in store, when the association celebrates the twenty-fifth anniversary, gleaming with silver.

We hope it will be a reality.

LOUIS A. COHEN.

Don't look for flaws as you go thro' life
And even tho' you find them,
Be wise and kind, and somewhat blind.
And look for virtues behind them.

CHICAGO.

Four charter fraters sitting at the table
Ate and spoke, and spoke and ate as much as they were able:
Fifty fine "Old Timers" gobbled food in glee—
That gallant, Grand and benign band—our Silver Jubilee.

One man jumped from the ninth floor of the Auditorium Hotel, just outside the hall where the Silver Jubilee banquet of Chicago Division No. 1, National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, was at its height, November 6th. "Blessed be the deaf, for they shall know nothing about it." Blissfully unconscious of the scurrying commotion, the clatter of the police and the clang of ambulances, the 187 banqueters pursued the even tenor of their way.

For the would-be suicide was a hearing guest of the hotel, and we knew nothing of the tragedy until we read the Sunday morning paper. (He landed on a canopy roof on the seventh floor, and sustained a few broken bones.)

The banquet was a success in every manner, shape and form. For once, the Old Timers and the Rising Generation hit it off; for once, they seemed to vibrate on the same plane. Evening garb was plentiful. The dainty dames showed up all shingled, sand-papery and perfumed. The gastronomical line-of-march was excellent—led by a Delmonico steak as large as the plate, and cooked to a turn. The speeches were interspersed with quasi-vaudeville turns. From 8.30 sharp until 12.12, there was not a dull moment. All for $2.

The only Grand Officers attending the banquet were Secretary Gibson and Trustee Barrow.

Cigarets and Fannie May candy were passed around as the personal compliments of Chairman David J. Padden.

Henry Maher, who swore in the original first division, was introduced as "Our Prodigal Frat." Alfred Bierlein, who endorsed the applications of Gibson and Kleinhaus; O. T. Osterberg of Davenport division; Carl Osterberg of Cedar Rapids division; Dan Teller of Kalamazoo division, also spoke.

Chi-Oral-106, established last April with 34 members and now 46, had 28 plates at their table. They donated four large vases of carnations and chrysanthemums.

Certificate numbers ranged from Barrow, No. 8, to Ben Ursin, No. 7954.

The programs were things of beauty—eight pages and cover, union label—with greetings, history, menu, program, list of members with certificate number, list of No. 1's past presidents, and photographs of division officers and committee. Printed by Hal Keesal. When Gibson rose to speak, the ovation almost resembled a riot. For once a prophet is honored in his own country.

Past Grand President Kleinhaus was the guest of honor, at division expense, by reason of his also having been past president of No. 1.

Mrs. John Reed wound up the program in the same Highland costume she wore at the N. A. D. banquet in Washington last August. Being her initial performance before the deaf of her adopted city, she was the cynosure of all eyes, and made a deserved hit.

The daily papers gave the banquet more space than they have allotted to the deaf for years. Proving that a million dollars in assets is a talking point, which is heard by even million-circulation newspapers, where advertising costs $1 per line or $14 per inch.

It was a glorious wind-up for the Silver Jubilee committee, which has been working on the May and November dates for over a year. The members are: D. Padden, chairman; E. Disz, vice-chairman; J. Meagher, sec'y, and press; G. Boltz, F. Colligan, H. Davidson, H. Gunner, M. Henry, H. Keesal, E. Knobloch, C. Krauel, M. Knightart, W. Maiworm, J. Miller, H. Perry, E. Stafford, J. Wondra, and ex-officio President C. Kemp, and retary E. Craig of No. 1.

The one-armed deaf nephew of "Uncle Joe"—who died down-state six days later—came from Washington, and sat with the 106 lads.

Among several other visitors were the Cordanos, and Rosebach from St. Joe, Mich.

President Chas. Kemp of No. 1 is playing in hard luck. Monday after the banquet his wife was seriously burned by grease, while preparing dinner. She was removed to Washington Park hospital. Three days later her hearing son, Ray, was driving her to have the surgeon renew the dressings, when some jassax trying to "beat the lights" across the boulevard smashed into the Kemp car. The officer on the corner saw the accident, and offered to arrest the offender, but Mrs. Kemp said no. "What price gratitude?"

The offender evidently sized up the deaf woman and her son as soft-shaps, for next morning the police phoned the Kemps, although himself entirely to blame, that jassax was suing the Kemps for the damage he (himself) did to his own car. Ray et al. hustled down to court and dumfounded the jassax by producing three witnesses to his own violation of the traffic rules, including the cop on the corner. His charges were dismissed, and instead the jassax found himself under arrest. $100 fine. MORAL: Don't imagine the deaf and their children are yammering imbeciles.

November 6th, the League for the Hard of Hearing, held its seventh annual bazaar at St. James Parish House, 666 Rush Street. Joe Wondra was responsible for the attendance of quite a number of genuine deaf folks—in fact since the formation of Chi-Oral-106 the orlists and hard-of-hearing circles are getting quite chummy with us, and each is discovering that the other fellows are fine folk. Which augurs well for the future. It is said over $1500 in merchandise was sold in that one day. The proceeds of the bazaar are used to carry on the good work the League is doing in the prevention of deafness among the school children of the city, many of whom do not have the money to secure medical attention. This is one of the many things we "hard-shell deaf," and the hard-of-hearing, have in common. Preservation of "residual hearing" is fast becoming recognized as a necessary practice among reputable educators, and will eventually reduce the percentage of deaf-mutes per population.

Some $60 was realized for the Home for Aged Deaf at the Hartman card party the afternoon of November 5th. Ten tables of "500," two of bridge, and seven of bunco—19 in all. Prizes exceptionally snub.

Miss Goldie Newman was hostess to the Chicago chapter of O. W. L. S., in a private dining room at Marshall Fields, the afternoon of the Jubilee banquet.

The winter of Mrs. Edwin Brashar died on the 30th, aged 80. She, Mrs. Meinken, and Mrs. Geo. Brashar attended the funeral in Rock Falls, Ill.

Mrs. Anton Tanzar entertained her parents and brother, who came in their auto from Minneapolis.

Mrs. F. Wirt gave a shower to Mrs. Johnnie Sullivan, at her home on the 11th.

Mrs. S. Ellen, of Aurora, spent a week here with Mrs. C. Sharpnack.

This is the tale of three fishermen's wail.
They went fishing when sunshine was sunny;
To keep out of jail the fishers gave bail—
And the fine came to thirty—real money.

Three deaf fishermen were victims of one of those abominable tank-town "justice mills" near Chicago the past season, paying a fine of $30 on a charge of catching black bass less than ten inches in length.

Anthony Novotny, Supreme Grand Secretary of the Knights and Ladies of De l'Epee, was fishing with John Buffka and Paul Schwarz, along a stream where some fifty hearing men congregated. Along came one of those tin-star trouble hunters, who looked over the crowd. Ah, three men wagging their fins—poor fish—that's my dish. Them there "Dummies" ain't not got no brains, nohow. Presto, the three deaf fishermen were placed under arrest and hauled off to a nearby "Justice."

The glib arresting officer mouthed a few words, and the "Justice" thereon wrote on a piece of paper "30 fine, pay me." Then Novotny got mad.

MUSIC FALLS ON EARS.

A lthough the music fell on deaf ears, 250 men and women—sensing the vibrations—dance the Charleston and other steps in perfect rhythm to the orchestra that played in the Silent Athletic Club, 5536 Indiana Avenue.

They were members and prospects of Division 106, a newly formed unit of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf.

Last night's event was the opening ball and carnival—a costume affair—for the new unit.

Daily papers from the near-by city of Benton Harbor, relate the wedding October 19th, of Miss Eloise—daughter of the W. W. Rosbacks—to E. M. Jenkins, of Charleston, S. C. It was quite a social event, as Rosback is head of the Rosback Perforated Machine Manufacturing Company, there. His father is said to have been in the real inventor of the harvesting machine.

DEAF AND DUMB LOSES ONE EYE.

During his 22 years of life, Stanley Neja, deaf and dumb, until recently seemed sure to overcome his enormous handicaps. Then came an accident in the factory in which he earned his living, which put out one eye and afflicted the sight of the other.

Now Stanley is fighting a battle against triple odds—fighting to learn to make a living by training his fingers, in occupational therapy section of St. Luke's Hospital. Aided with a magnifying reading glass, and under the careful tutelage of Mrs. Mary Abbey, head of occupational work at the hospital, he is learning to weave reed furniture, and hopes, when he has learned the craft completely, to support himself by working in a furniture factory.

Chicago's latest addition to an ever-growing list of delightful silents is Miss Belda Erickson, who comes from Ft. Ransom, North Dakota, and is boarding with Miss Betty Plonshinsky at the Ingval Dahls home. Miss Erickson secured an office job and will remain with us permanently. She seems to be a person of intelligence and companionability.

Ten tables of bunco and four of "500" were on the boards at the Silent A. C., November 13th.

Chi-Oral-106 is an up-and-coming organization of young businessmen whose willingness to spend money on social propaganda is encouraging sign of deaf progress. For regalia hats they wear expensive red uez, black tassle, and gold lettering.

Superintendent Mrs. Gus Hyman recently arranged for one of the residents of the Home—J. Sullivan—to celebrate his 67th birthday with a small party. A hearing friend of Mrs. Gus gave a display of his Kine Kodak—the movies showing the residents of the Home to their amazed delight.

The Home will serve a small "Christmas Sale Thursday afternoon, December 2d—chop suey with coffee or for forty cents. Following this "500" and bunco will hold the boards. Bring your friends to the Home—4539 South Parkway. Here is a chance to secure your Christmas presents and at the same time aid a worthy charity.

Mrs. George Dougherty donated two large jars of Paradise jelly to the Home.

Mrs. Fred. Meinken, who has been making lovely lamp shades, which she sells at $25 each, donated one for the recent Hartman card social for the Home—which easily ranked as first prize, even ahead of the handsome mirror Hartman donated.

Col. Smith, commanding officer of our state school, sent Opal Brown to Rev. Hasenstab, at whose house she remained a week, while being equipped with a new artificial leg. She went back to Jacksonville walking as though the leg were flesh and blood, instead of wood and wax.

Many of the All Angels' guild attended the bazaar of St. Mary's at the Palmer House, where Mrs. M. Knightart had a booth representing All Angels'. Mrs. Gus Hyman and Mrs. M. Henry attended to get some ideas for the Home "sale" to be held December 2d.

Eighteen ladies attended the last Susan Wesley circle luncheon at the M. E. "citadel," prepared by Mesdames Elmes and Meagher. Following the feed came an interesting program, featured by a discussion on "new discoveries."

Miss Alice Donohue is around again after some time in St. Joseph's Hospital. The ladies at her shop raffled a pillow, and gave Miss Alice the proceeds, $53. She is now the guest of Mrs. F. Meinken for a month.

Mrs. Norris' daughter, who has ten children, is mourning the death of her youngest child, aged three, from quick pneumonia.

Her daughter took Mrs. F. Meinken by auto to Elgin, where she spent a few days as the guest of Mrs. Effie Johnson.

Mrs. Joe Wondra attended the St. Louis wedding of her niece the middle of November.

Mrs. S. Allen of Aurora spent a week here with Mrs. C. Sharpnack.

Mrs. H. Leiter entertained the Saturday Evening Club at her flat on the 13th.

The Rev. Henry Rutherford spent a week in Wesley Hospital with neuritis.

Mrs. Julia Pond was badly bruised by a fall downstairs. Her convalescence was spent with her daughter-in-law in Harvey.

Mrs. Coughlan and Mrs. Stacy are back from a month's visit to a former Chicagoan, Mrs. F. X. Zitnik, in Akron.

David Mudgett is vice-president of the athletic association at Gallaudet College.

Mrs. Mabel Belford has moved to Hammond, Ind.

Virgin Dowell is spending two weeks here, while the Chevrolet plant in Flint is closed for inventory.

PHILADELPHIA

News items for this column should be sent to James Reider, 1538 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Creds will be "recited" and hymns "sung" without a sound being uttered, when the services for deaf-mutes are instituted in the Lutheran Church of the Transfiguration, Lehigh Avenue, west of Twelfth Street, tomorrow. This will be first step in a move to establish Sunday schools and congregations among Lutheran deaf-mutes of the city and vicinity.

Plans are now under way for the organization of a school in the Church of the Ascension, Mount Airy, for the Lutheran children at the Mt. Airy Institute for the Deaf, located nearby. During the week, arrangements will also be completed with the New Jersey State Institute for the Deaf for the establishment of Sunday school and church services for the children in that institution. All of these enterprises will be part of the some seventy-five preaching stations for the deaf conducted by the Lutheran Church in various parts of the country.

The work that is to be conducted in this city and vicinity will be in charge of Edward F. Kaercher, a student for the ministry at the Theological Seminary at Mount Airy and himself a deaf-mute. The Inner Mission Bureau of the Pennsylvania Ministerium, with Rev. G. H. Bechtold as secretary, will supervise the services.

The Inquirer of Saturday, November 20th, gave prominence to the above news item.

It shows the latest effort that is being made on behalf of the Lutheran deaf in Philadelphia.

We do not know if the number of such deaf warrants the new venture in this city, which already has a thoroughly equipped church building and parish house for the use of the Episcopal deaf and all others who care to attend its services. The Roman Catholic and Hebrew deaf each have missions of their own for some time, but neither of them has attained any marked success beyond the segregation of the followers. And now appear the Lutheran deaf again!

We do not wish to discourage religious effort among any sect, but the number of deaf in our city is so small that it is difficult to see how four sects, working separately from each other, can thrive successfully. Greater good would undoubtedly result if all religiously inclined deaf would work together in union.

The writer himself came of Lutheran parents. After leaving school, he found the Episcopal Church the only denomination actively engaged in ministering to the deaf here. So he wrote to his father to ask him what objection, if any, he had to his changing to the Episcopal faith. His father replied, "None; just so you belong to a church." That was a broadminded reply, was it not?

It is true that conditions are somewhat different now, there being more than one denomination to choose from, but even then, it would seem that the more the deaf are united in one church the more good they can do, considering their small number.

Mr. Kaercher and Rev. Smaltz are both oral graduates of the Mt. Airy School, and we assume know each other. The latter is so firmly entrenched that he has nothing to fear from his new competitor. He has "the top hold of the bat" and will continue to hold it against any competitor.

The Rev. H. C. Merrill, of Syracuse, N. Y., spent the first half of last week visiting his friends here, being on his way to Washington, D. C., on his way to western New York to supply for Rev. Mr. Merrill, also stopped here for a couple of days. With Rev. Smaltz, the trio met at Mr. Reider's home, on Tuesday evening, to discuss Clergy Conference matters.

Mr. J. A. McIlvaine, Jr., was down for a lecture before the Clerc Literary Association, on Thursday evening, November 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Powers the latter being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Partington, received an addition to their family last October 19th. The child is named Hilda Ann, after its mother and grandmother.

A stated meeting of the Clerc Literary Association will be held on Thursday evening, December 9th.

Mrs. Adam Hartig (nee Margaret McGonigal) of near Chester, Pa., died on Tuesday, November 16th, and was buried the following Friday. She had been a sufferer for several years.

The photograph of the Convention group at Mt. Airy, last Fall, turned out exceptionally good. It is sold at seventy-five cents a copy. Those wishing a copy should write to Mr. Harry E. Stevens, P. O. Box 81, Merchantville, N. J., inclosing remittance.

A supper was served at All Souls' Parish House, from 5 to 7 P. M., on Saturday, November 20th. A good sum was realized therefrom for the benefit of All Souls' Church expense fund.

In the evening of the same day, the Philadelphia Local Branch, P. S. A. D., held a "500" party at the same place, with a good attendance. The Gallaudet Club will meet at Rev. Smaltz's home on Friday evening, November 26th.

MASQUERADE BALL OF MANHATTAN DIVISION, No. 87, N. F. S. D.

'Odd Fellows' Memorial Hall, Brooklyn Borough, was the scene of the Manhattan Frats fourth annual Masquerade Ball, on Saturday evening, November 20th.

From a small beginning, this Division has really grown in numbers and prestige in the short time of four years.

The affair in Brooklyn testified to this, when the hall was crowded by the members of the Division and their friends.

As at nearly every affair given by the deaf, new faces are always noticeable, and on this occasion it was the same. Many of the younger ones were present at such a gathering for the first time, and they seemed to enjoy themselves far more than the old timers. The latter were contented to meet old friends and renew acquaintances and to be onlookers of the merry-makers.

The attendance was the largest of the three previous affairs given by the Division, and the arrangement committee, which consisted of Messrs. Moses W. Loew (chairman), Harry Kurtz, A. A. Cohn, Marcus L. Kenner and Abraham Hyams, were all smiles for, of course, the affair was a financial success, and though that was not their own aim, nevertheless, as they also worked hard the past several months in planning to give all who attended a good time; they were happy at the outcome and also added to the treasury of their organization.

'Twas about half past eleven o'clock when those in costume were marched around the room to be judged for the cash prizes.

The judges selected were Mrs. R. Lynch, of New Jersey; Jack Ebin, of the Bronx, and Mr. Marshall, of Connecticut.

The instructions of the Arrangement Committee were followed by them in selecting the winners, hence there was no disappointment noticeable by those who failed to get a prize.

The winners were as follows:

MEN

First prize—C. Legges, African. Second prize—William Weiss, most comical—Black Face. Third prize—Louis Herschberg, prettiest (Century Costume). Fourth prize—L. Zahn, quite pretty.

WOMEN

First prize—Miss Vera Hoffman, Traffic sign. Second prize—L. Rubenstein, 'Tillie the Toiler.' Third prize—Mrs. Androvich, Toe Dancer. Fourth prize—Miss Seaman, quite pretty.

In all, there were about forty in fancy and comical costumes, among them several clowns, who kept the spectators in good humor by their antics, a Red Cross nurse, an Ambassador from South America, and even the Liberty Bell was among these.

Abraham Barr was Floor Manager, and Joseph Worzel Assistant Floor Manager.

The officers of Manhattan Division, No. 87, are: John N. Funk, President; Julius Seandel, Vice-President; Max M. Lubin, Secretary; William Mellis, Treasurer; Max Miller, Jacob Freidman and Henry Plapinger, Board of Trustees.

A souvenir program, which contained complimentary and business advertisements of reputable firms, was issued by the committee of the Manhattan Frats. It was of 24 pages and cover.

ST. ANN'S CHURCH FAIR.

The Fair at St. Ann's Church for Deaf-Mutes, held November 11th, 12th and 13th, in the Guild Room, was a success. Miss Alice E. Judge was chairman of the committee that managed it, and deserves congratulations on the outcome.

Throughout each of the three evenings of the Fair, supper was served in the Assembly Room, from six to eight o'clock, under the direction of Miss Anna M. Klaus, assisted by Mrs. Wm. Burke, Mrs. Harry Pierce Kane, Mrs. Emory F. Wolgamot, Mrs. DeCarney and Mrs. J. H. Kent.

In one of the booths, which were prettily decorated, was a tea room. This was extra large and furnished with tables and chairs, where, besides a light repast, grape juice and orangeade were served. This booth was in charge of Mrs. A. Young and Mrs. Alfred Stern, and did a thriving business.

The Post Office booth was operated by Misses Jessie Garrick and Connie Pizzuto and Mrs. Carr. Fancy Booth—Messdames Rappolt, McClusky and Lieberg, and Miss Agnes Craig.

Household Booth—Mrs. Schnackenberg, Mrs. Kinsey, Miss Brahn-fuhr and Miss Anderson.

The Fortune Teller, who read your past, present and future, was Mrs. I. Fosmire.

The Bakery was under the management of Mrs. Bothner, Mrs. Olsen and Mrs. Beck.

Candy Land was where sweet smiles preceded the sales of sweets by Miss Ballance, Miss Schwing and Mrs. Burke.

White Elephant Booth—Presided over by Miss Barrager and Mrs. Thompson.

The attendance during Thursday evening was good, on Friday evening light, but on Saturday evening the crowd was so dense that getting around was quite difficult.

The profits from the combined efforts and sales from the different departments can, with confidence, be placed at $800, and more than that it is certain were realized.

MILITARY HONORS AT WEDDING

The following refers to the youngest son of the Mrs. Margaret Lounsbury. He is a physical director at St. Thomas' Chapel.

Miss Rose A. Stoll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stoll, of Hollis, will be married to Theodore R. Lounsbury, of Astoria, with a military ceremony, on Saturday, December 11th, in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church Chapel, 230 East Sixtieth Street, Manhattan. There will be a guard of honor in full uniform from the Seventy-first Regiment, the bridegroom having served in Company K.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rt. Rev. Ernest M. Stires, Bishop of Long Island, for whom Miss Stoll was secretary for four years. Dr. Stires was rector of St. Thomas' Church.

The Rev. Richard M. Doubs, Vicar of the Chapel, will assist in the ceremony, and Dr. Roeliff H. Brooks, the new rector of the church, for whom Miss Stoll will continue as secretary after her marriage, will be in the chapel.

The wedding music will be by Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist of St. Thomas' Church, and by the chapel's choir and part of the choir of the church. There will be a maid of honor and four bridesmaids.

A miscellaneous showers was given to Miss Mary R. Stafford by her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Farrell, at their residence. Those present were Misses Ethel McCoy, Rose Geismann, Dorothy Ryan, Anna Muller, Margaret Percell, Catherine Dyer, Edna, and Catherine O'Connor, Mae and Anna Fox, Catherine, Frances, Edith and Eileen Farrell, Ethel, and Flossie Lynn, Molly Stafford, Helen Reilly, May Finerty, A. On Saturday evening, January 15th, 1927, Manhattan Division, No. 87, N. F. S. D., will celebrate their fifth anniversary with a banquet, at Cafe Boulevard, Broadway and 41st Street. Non-members will be allowed to join them. Mr. Chas. Sussman is Treasurer of the Committee, and he can be addressed at 1039 Tiffany Street, Bronx, N. Y. Ticket, including banquet and the dance that follows, is $2.50 per person.

The several deaf-mutes who have been out on strike in the men's clothing establishment are jubilant at the termination of the strike. Several months ago, Governor Smith offered to bring the strikers and employers to an understanding, but without avail. How it began and how it came to end does not interest the readers, except that several of the deaf will now be able to go back to work.

At the last business meeting of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, held on Thursday evening, December 11th, the Entertainment Committee, who have charge of the arrangements of the 41st celebration of the founding of the organization, announced that the affair would be held at the Strand Roof, Broadway and 47th Street, on Saturday evening, January 1st, 1927, from 5:30 to 10:30 P.M., and that they expect the affair to eclipse any event ever given by the organization.

Arthur H. Enger came all the way from Providence, R. I., to be present at the Manhattan Frats' Masquerade Ball. His fiancée, Miss C. Radigan, also of Providence was present with him. She is a very pretty and winsome miss.

Among those present at the Masquerade Ball of Manhattan Division were a newly wedded couple. In the forenoon of the affair, unknown to their friends and relatives, they quietly visited the home of Rabbi Dunes in Manhattan, and were married. Miss Kate Maltz from that eventful afternoon became the lawful wife of Mr. David Polinsky. They were congratulated by friends, who learned of the secret marriage.

Perhaps not many of the younger generation ever heard or saw James F. Britt. He is a product of the Fanwood School, and for the past thirty years has been employed by the same firm in Manhattan as a compositor. On September 18th, he met with a sad loss, by the death of his boy, who was 24 years old. Our sympathy is extended to Jimmy, who, as a boy, was a model lad for those at school to imitate.

The Schnapp Printing Co., general printers, located at 100 West 21st Street, New York City, is very well known and does a pretty good business. The sales manager is Mr. M. Schnapp, a product of the Fanwood School, who learned the business under Mr. Edwin A. Hodgson, in the JOURNAL office. It is growing all the time, having now four presses and up-to-date display type with which to turn out fine commercial job work.

On Saturday afternoon, November 20th, a drawing for three turkeys took place at the rooms of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League (an annual custom). The winners were: Mrs. Nathan Dobseavage, Mr. W. Carlsin and Mr. Party. To each checks were sent to buy a national bird to grace their Thanksgiving dinner this Thursday.

The members of the Lutheran Guild elected officers for the ensuing year of 1927: President, Walter Weisenstein; Vice-President, John Nesgrod; Treasurer, Katherine Christgau; Due Collector, John Heil; Trustees, Albert Downes, Erich Berg, Conrad Ulmer.

Mr. Jacob Sturtz, the father of our Mr. Joseph C. Sturtz passed away at the age of 73, last Friday, November 12th. The sympathy of a host of friends goes out to Joe and his family in this hour of bereavement.

The next business meeting of the New York Branch of the National Association of the Deaf will be held at the rooms of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, on the first of December, permission having been granted by the League to the Association at their last business meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Kremen are rejoicing at the advent of a baby-boy, which came into this world of ours on Friday, November 19th.

A good evening's entertainment for next Saturday evening, the 27th, is the vandeille show at St. Ann's Church. See advertisement in this issue of the JOURNAL.

Southern Railway Bldg., Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Charles C. McMann of Los Angeles, nee Campbell, ex-pupil of this school, and later of the Rochester School, N. Y., is out of the Santa Ana hospital, where she was treated for a broken right arm. In running to catch a car she stumbled and fell on the pavement, her arm striking a steel rail. During her stay in the hospital Mr. McMann purchased a new home in Hollywood. They brought all their furniture from New York and now feel at home after living in rented furnished houses. —Cal. News.

Cadwallader Washburn, famous deaf artist, now making sketches along the San Luis Obispo coast, has pledged us five hundred dollars for the Dr. E. M. Gallaudet Memorial Building. Dr. Washburn is a graduate of Gallaudet College and is devoting his life to pen sketching. He has exhibited in the Palace of Fine Arts, San Francisco. His donation is a splendid testimonial of his high regard for Dr. Gallaudet and his gratitude to the college that helped him so much. —Cal. News.

Miss Avis Allen is learning to be a typist at the Hefley School in Brooklyn.

Miss Carmella Palazzatta is apprenticed to a dressmaker.

Miss Edna Purdy works in a silk factory.

In the main office of the Institution a new electric clock was installed last week.

On Armistice Day, November 11th, all pupils assembled in the chapel. Principal Gardner and Dr. Fox gave interesting lectures from 10:45 to 11:30 A.M. In the afternoon, the pupils were allowed to go out from 1 P.M. to 6:45 P.M. All enjoyed their outings, going to the movies, and had a great time. The Fanwood team played and practiced basketball with the second team of Fanwood for the game with Curtis High School team in Staten Island.

During the week of October 7th, Mr. Frank Lux, our athletic director, took Mr. Stanley Robinson, a blind and deaf graduate of Fanwood, who remained here several days, to Wappinger Falls, N. Y., where the latter resides in the Gallaudet Home for the Deaf. Stanley enjoyed the inspection of some various modern machines in the trades school's here.

On November 13th, a basket-ball game was played between the Oriental club team (Junior) and Fanwood (Junior) team in New Rochelle, N. Y., at the same time as the Fanwood-Curtis game in Staten Island. The score was 15 to 8 in favor of Fanwood Jr. Cadet James Goodhope starred for Fanwood.

FANWOOD BASKET BALL

On November 20th in our gymnasium, a basketball game was played between two Fanwood teams—Alumni and Students. The score was 48 to 18 in favor of the Fanwood Students, under the fast work and clever passing of Wm. Kahn, John Kostyk, George Lynch and Leo Port in the second half.

Six wallets were awarded to the players of the Fanwood Alumni team from the members of Fanwood Athletic Association, as souvenirs.

Dr. Fox, before the opening of the game, made a brief speech and his few last words were may the best men win! The ball was tossed up by himself.

On Founder's Day, November 19th, in the morning, the pupils assembled in the chapel and Principal Gardner made a speech which interested us. Then speeches were made by Dr. Fox and Prof. Wm. G. Jones, a retired teacher.

In the afternoon, a competition for the flag was had between Company "A," under Cadet Captain David Retzker, and Company "B," under Cadet Captain Herbert Carroll. The parade and exercises were conducted by the Battalion to the music of the Band. The competition for the flag was won by Company "B."

The reviewing officer was Captain George I. Lounsbury 71st Infantry N. Y. N. G., accompanied by Lieutenant Daniel Sullivan from the same unit. Captain Lounsbury is the son of deaf-mute parents, one of whom graduated from the Institution. He therefore addressed the cadets without the aid of an interpreter.

Mr. Harry Barnes, a former pupil of Fanwood, visited here with his friend, Edward Minor, from Schenectady, N. Y.

Mr. John Divine, a graduate of St. Joseph's Institution, came to see Mr. Hodgson on business. After their talk, Mr. Divine was shown around the printing office.

An interesting program was given in the chapel before the members of the Fanwood Literary Association, by the Junior High Class, which is taught by Prof. E. W. Iles, on Thursday evening, the 18th of November. The program is shown below:—

OMAHA

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Thornberg are the proud parents of a baby girl born October 1st. They are now living in South Bend, Ind.

Morris Fahr, who spent some time in a Chicago school, is now working at the Loudon Mfg. Co. plant in Fairfield, Ia., as a draughtsman. Before coming to Omaha to work for the Union Pacific Headquarters, Ora H. Blanchard held a similar position with that company.

Norman Scarvie, of Iowa, a senior at Gallaudet College, is captain of the foot-ball team and editor of the Buff and Blue.

Miss Stella Dray and Charles Clark entertained the Home Circle at the home of the Bilgers Saturday evening, November 6th. Several amusing games were played and light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. John Marty were host and hostess to the midwest chapter Saturday evening November 6th, at their home in Council Bluffs. "500" was played. The person with highest score at each table was the winner. Oscar Treuke and Mrs. Emma Seely with 1000 score won first prizes, and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Cuscaden, second with 920 each. It was decided to have some kind of entertainment December 11th. Refreshments wound up the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Netusil entertained at a small Hallowe'en party at their home Friday evening, October 29th, with twelve guests, who came dressed in kids' clothes. The feature of the evening was a game of blind guessing. The guests were seated in a circle and the lights turned out. A number of articles were passed around and finally taken away. Oscar Treuke won first prize for guessing the most correct, with Leo Holway, second. "Bats" were served at late hour.

Francis Brickley, of Portland, Ore., who has been in Omaha the last six weeks, is trying hard to land a job. He was last in Chicago and claims to have a brother named "Teddy" at Gallaudet College.

Messrs. Eugene Fry, Francis Jacobsen, Eugene McConnell and Ray Anderson motored to Des Moines, Ia., in Mr. McConnell's car Saturday afternoon, November 13th, and spent the week-end with some deaf friends there. It was raining and muddy on the way out and the car skidded off the road. It had to be towed back into place. There was a party at the John Robinsons with over twenty present, including Messrs. and Mesdames Mark Bishop, Gerald Brant, and Jacob Brandt, also Mrs. Harry Brvan, who has since returned to Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Gretchen Fahr, of Oskaloosa, Ia. The Robinsons were voted first class entertainers. Several of the folks in Des Moines expect to attend the Midwest Chapter's entertainment on December 11th, not forgetting that Iowa gets two-thirds of the profits for the F. M. G. fund.

Mrs. Emma Seely was hostess to the Gallaudet O. W. I. S. at Bridge at her home, Saturday afternoon, November 13th.

TORONTO TIDINGS

The Mason family at No. 1 and 3 Garden Avenue, have had considerable alterations made to their respective homes lately and new furnaces installed, which add more comfort and convenience than the old-fashioned coal burners of by-gone days.

Miss Muriel Allen and Mr. James Tate attended a family party at the former's parental home in Hamilton, on November 6th, and remained there over Thanksgiving.

The fortnightly meeting of the Bridgen Club, held on November 5th, was one of exceptional interest and a good treat for the goodly crowd present. First came the discussion as to what should be the fee for membership and after much discussion, it was finally agreed, on motion of Miss Carrie Brethour, seconded by Mrs. H. W. Roberts, that one dollar for each person for the season was quite fair, and this was approved. Mr. William R. Watt next gave "Current Events," and Mr. Chas. A. Elliott, several anecdotes of animal life in various ways, and finally followed discussions, pro and con, on the various subjects that Mr. Watt had just spoken of.

While here for our Mission Conference at Thanksgiving time, Mr. William Hagen, one of the Kitchener delegates, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Doyle.

In the death recently, in Moose Jaw, of Mrs. W. G. Bell, no one here demise more than does Mrs. A. W. Mason, both of whom were playmates and bosom chums in the long ago. Mrs. Mason was building up great hopes of going up to Moose Jaw next Summer and embracing her absent chum once more, but they will now embrace each other on the Sands of Gold.

Miss Norma Smith has returned home, after a few days' visit to Detroit.

Miss Erna Soles, accompanied by her family, motored up and spent the Thanksgiving holidays with friends in Palmerston.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Lloyd and family were in the city for the Thanksgiving holidays, the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Ellsworth Bowman. Mr. Lloyd was a delegate to our Mission Conference.

Mr. Arthur Bowen, of Cookstown, was down as a delegate to our mission conference and to see his aged mother during Thanksgiving week. Miss Evelyn Hazlitt was down with her sister, Mrs. Gerald Hubbard, in Ottawa, during Thanksgiving week.

During her stay here over Thanksgiving, Miss Sophia Fishbein, of London, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Doyle. She and Mr. H. A. Dowan were the London representatives to our Mission Conference.

Glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green, of McKenzie Crescent, at our social Thanksgiving night. It is ages upon ages since we met then before.

Mr. Frank Baumgart, of Brantford, was renewing old friends here during Thanksgiving.

Mr. Syrian Pettit, of Fruitland was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Byrne, over the recent holidays.

Miss Ethel Griffith spent Thanksgiving week with Mr. and Mrs. William Quinlan in Stratford, and reports a pleasant time.

Mrs. Charles Golds and son, Bobbie, and Mr. Thomas S. Williams, all of Kitchener, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Harris over Thanksgiving. Mr. Williams being one of the delegates from "The Twin City."

Mr. William Hagen, another delegate from Kitchener, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Doyle over the holiday.

Mrs. Henry Whealy and her son, Gordon, motored down near Frankford, on November 6th, and returned on the 9th. They had a good time.

Mrs. Andrew S. Waggoner and Mr. Norman Gleadow were the representatives from Hamilton to our Mission meeting.

We are pleased to see Mr. W. J. Ross out again, after a week's lay off, due to an attack of neuritis in his right arm.

Mr. Lorenzo Martel, late of Sudbury, has secured work here, and is a welcome addition to our numbers. Mr. and Mrs. John C. Zimmerman and three children, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones and daughter, of Palgrave, with Mrs. W. J. Baird, of Beeton, motored down on Thanksgiving Day and took in our big social.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rosnick have named their infant son, which was born on August 12th, last, Harold Israel Rosnick. He is growing like a weed. Mrs. Rosnick was formerly Miss Lena English, and still retains her comical charm.

Mr. Walter Bell, who went to Philadelphia a few weeks to study the intricate problems of the monotyping art, has completed his course, and returned to his wife and children here, on November 6th. He now has a commanding position in the office of the Saturday Night. He feels much indebted to the deaf of Philadelphia for the warm-hearted hospitality they had tendered him during his stay in the "Quaker City."

Mr. Ernest A. Hackbusch, of Hamilton, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gray in New Toronto over the Thanksgiving holidays, and took in our social on November 8th. Ernie still exudes his boyish smiles and humor.

Mr. John B. Steward hied himself away to Hamilton to see his sisters over Thanksgiving.

Mr. Batston, of Hamilton, was again in our midst over Thanksgiving. We suspect his frequent visits to our burg has Cup
